2. Eventim makes available for sale Tickets to Events executed by the Organizer. Eventim is not an organizer of Events and is responsible only for the proper functioning of the Eventim System, delivery of a Ticket in accordance with the order and for ensuring that Tickets acquired with the use of the Eventim System will be recognized by the Organizer as authorizing one to enter a given Event in accordance with the Organizer Regulations.

3. Any User using the Eventim System accepts the terms and conditions of these Regulations. The User has no right to publish any content of unlawful nature, in particular such which may violate personal rights of other persons, including Eventim, as well as undertake activities which may cause disruption or damage in the Eventim System.

4. Depending on the decision of the Organizer of a given Event, Tickets are sold:

a) in paper form or in electronic form (in the formats of: Ticketdirect lub EVENTIM.Pass);

b) as personal or bearer Tickets.

The Organizer may also allow for the possibility to sell Tickets in the form of Carnets which authorize their holder to participate in a number of Events specified on the Carnet, in accordance with the Organizer Regulations, or may order that Eventim distribute Entry Passes. Detailed information in this respect can be found at the Website of a given Event.

5. Ticket in paper form are prepared – depending on an Event – on blank forms:

a) with a black-and-white print;

b) with a coloured print (FanTicket).

7. Before purchasing a Ticket through the Eventim System, the User is obliged to familiarize themselves with these Regulations, the Organizer Regulations, the Regulations of Ticket Sales for a given Event, as well as the Venue Rules and information published at the Website of an Event, which may contain extraordinary regulations for a specific Event. Ticket Purchasers are obliged to check the Website of the Event for which they purchased the Ticket, also directly before the date of the Event. In the case that Eventim receives information from the Organizer about a change in date of event or change of program of the Event or occurrence of circumstances which require Participants to fulfill additional requirements, Eventim will provide the information obtained from the Organizer in this respect. In the case of purchasing Tickets for other persons, the Ticket Purchaser is obliged to notify them on all regulations concerning the Event.

8. Certain types of Events may be subject to additional regulations arising from the binding provisions of law, including the Act of 20 March 2009 on Such regulations refer to all participants of an Event. An entry ticket to a football match or another document authorizing one to be present thereat is valid together with a document confirming identity.

9. In the case of Tickets sold as personal tickets, the Ticket Purchaser should provide personal data, in accordance with the requirements of the Event Organizer. Depending on the decision of the Organizer and the provisions of Organizer Regulations, it is necessary to provide data of all persons who will be Ticket Holders (participants of an Event) or only the Ticket Purchaser. Any possible admissibility of a later change of the data on a Ticket is set forth in the Organizer Regulations. Detailed information in this respect can be found at the Website of an Event.

10. As regards Tickets sold as personal tickets, such Tickets will be verified at the entrance to an Event in terms of compliance of data included on a Ticket with the data of the Ticket Holder. The use of the Vouchers of the Organizer is regulated in the Organizer Voucher Regulations, available at the website: www.eventim.pl/campaign/orgvoucherterms.

12. The Organizer may make available a Venue map in order to facilitate the User their choice of a Ticket. Eventim makes a reservation that it is not possible to make a precise representation of the Venue structure using graphics, therefore the presentation of a map of the Venue shall be treated as a simplified plan for informative purposes. If the Organizer later introduces any changes in the Venue map, including but not limited to changes within the scope of modifying the location of sectors, Eventim shall immediately provide the Ticket Purchasers to whom such changes apply with the information given to Eventim by the Organizer in this respect.

1. Subject to item 2 below, having logged in to the System, each User may purchase Tickets to a selected Event, whereas each User is subject to a limit of purchasing a maximum of eight (8) tickets for an Event, except to the extent that system settings allow for a possibility to purchase a larger number of Tickets as part of one order.

2. In the case of certain Events there may occur special limitations concerning the quantity of purchased Tickets, arising from the provisions of the Organizer Regulations. The above limitations may refer in particular to a limit of purchase tickets as part of the User account or as part of a given order, in accordance with the information available to the User in the process of making an order in the Eventim System.

3. Should the User order a number of Tickets greater than the admissible quantity (both as part of one order and as part of several orders), Eventim shall cancel the Tickets purchased above the limit. If the User wishes to purchase a larger number of Tickets, they should contact b2b@eventim.pl.

a) using an automatic place selection – in this case the System allocates to the User freely available places within the price category designated by the User. In the case of ordering a number of Tickets greater than one (1), the automatic selection of a place does not give the User a guarantee that the places allocated by the System will be adjacent ones;

b) using the possibility of purchase with a choice of a place on the basis of a hall plan – in this case the User individually specifies on an interactive plan of the Venue the places which they would like to purchase. In the case of certain Events, this option may be extended to include a panorama view which presents to the User a view on the Venue from a specified place. That view is only exemplary and may vary from the actual one, depending on the Venue and the Event.

7. The Ticket allows for a one-time entry to the Event for the number of persons designated on the Ticket (in the case of a bearer Ticket) or for the persons specified on the Ticket by their names (in the case of a personal Ticket). Tickets may be scanned at the entrance to the Event only once, unless the information obtained from the Organizer or shown on such Ticket expressly state otherwise.

8. The Ticket authorizes the Ticket Holder to take the place specified on the Ticket, if the information on the place number has been shown on the Ticket. The Organizer shall have the right to change the place specified on the Ticket to a different one, in the same price category or higher, both before and in the course of duration of the Event, if security reasons, protection of the public order or other justified circumstances so require, of which the Ticket Holder shall be informed.
